

Washington State Law requires each city to have certain boards, such as the Planning Commission, but leaves the composition of the board up to the individual cities. Other boards, not required by state law, are developed through council resolution. With subsequent approval by the Council, the mayor appoints members to most boards and commissions from among submitted application s.

Current vacancies:

- Board of Adjustment
- Lawson Gardens Committee
- Planning Commission

Please print and complete the application available through the above link. For more information, call 338-3208.

The left-hand column is a current list of Pullman boards and commissions. Click for a brief description of their duties. For further information about any of the boards, you may contact the staff liaison.